The NQF

The Rationale

What is the NQF

- The National Qualifications Framework is a system for structuring existing and new qualifications according to learning outcomes (knowledge, skills, competencies) throughout any country.
- This allows for the ability to develop, assess and improve quality education in several contexts.
- A tool to compare two qualifications through learning outcomes inter- and intra- region
- Qualifications in the NQF are classified according to the sequence of hierarchical levels. The levels are based on the standards of learning outcomes knowledge, skill and competencies needed for each qualification.

A means to life-long learning

Why the NQF: The Rationale

- Challenges facing the Egyptian education system and vocational training
- Dead-ends in vocational educational
- Unemployment rates
- Demand-oriented TVET and a better equipped skilled force
- Need for a basis for quality assurance, accreditation and comparison
- Building trust in educational outcomes
- Mismatch between graduate attributes and market demands

The Design of the NQF

The NQF Design Strategy

NQF Design Strategy

We chose to have a one tracked NQF with both academic and technical educational paths.

We formulated the targeted qualifications in a general outlined form, leaving more flexibility to the different sectors to develop their academic/learning plan

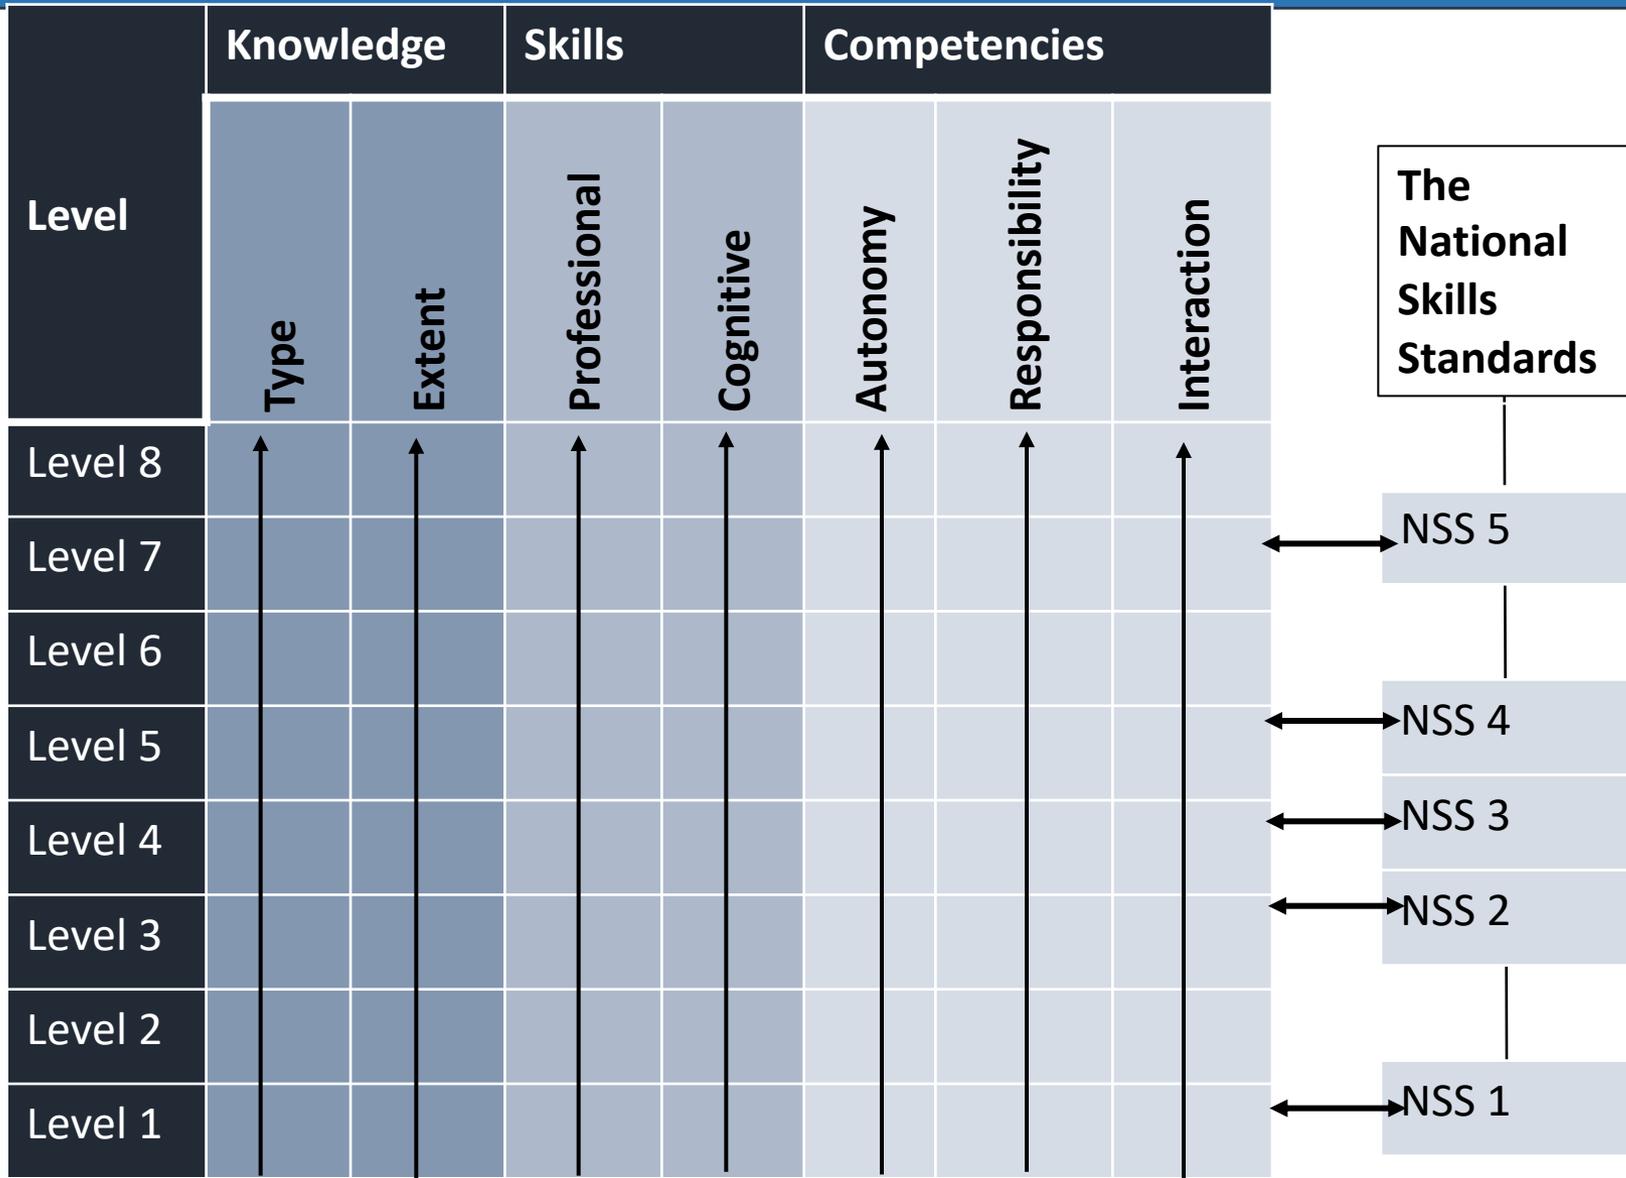

The design strategy was based on defining a set of “evolving” skills and competencies that start with early Qualifications Level and progress throughout the different levels, until it reaches an ultimate value, after which it remains constant.

Each of these evolving qualifications start at an appropriate level and not necessary from Level-1

Lessons Learnt

A Long process

It takes time you need to be patient and be ready and you need to make everyone around you understands and believes that.

Do not start unless you are ready

Stakeholder involvement and engagement

Identify and engage your stakeholders early on

Always coordinate with the stakeholders

Fit for Purpose

Design a framework that fits with and meets your needs

Highlights on Response of Educational Institutions and QA bodies to
COVID-19

The Post-COVID Perspective

Before we respond to this, we must understand that QA and Accreditation cannot flourish except in a stable educational eco-system.

Quality Assurance and Accreditation cannot flourish except in a stable educational eco-system.

We also realized that QA might not have been at the forefront of everyone's mind nor a priority during the pandemic ...

Yet this cannot go on indefinitely

Responsive Measures

Response to the Pandemic	HE Response	QAA Response
Shutdown of all education activity till further notice	Shutdown all educational premises No students on Campus	Postponing all site visits till further notice
	On-line teaching and Learning	Capacity building and training for faculty members to master efficient online teaching
Minister of Higher Education and Scientific Research Decree Supreme Council of Universities	Governmental HEIs to abide Private University to complete till end of semester	Support the implementation of the decree
	Online assessment	Guidelines for on-line assessment Nation-wide survey (with MoHESR)
	Apply Blended- Learning for all HEI institutions	Prepare for Virtual/Actual Accreditation Visits

Quality Assurance Measures

Assumed a responsive role (Stepped back)

Postponed (suspended) all scheduled accreditation visits

Expanded our on-line accreditation procedure

Extended the status of all HEIs (no HEI will be affected negatively by what happened)

Preparing for Virtual/Actual accreditation visits

Offering on-line training for effective teaching and learning in the changing world

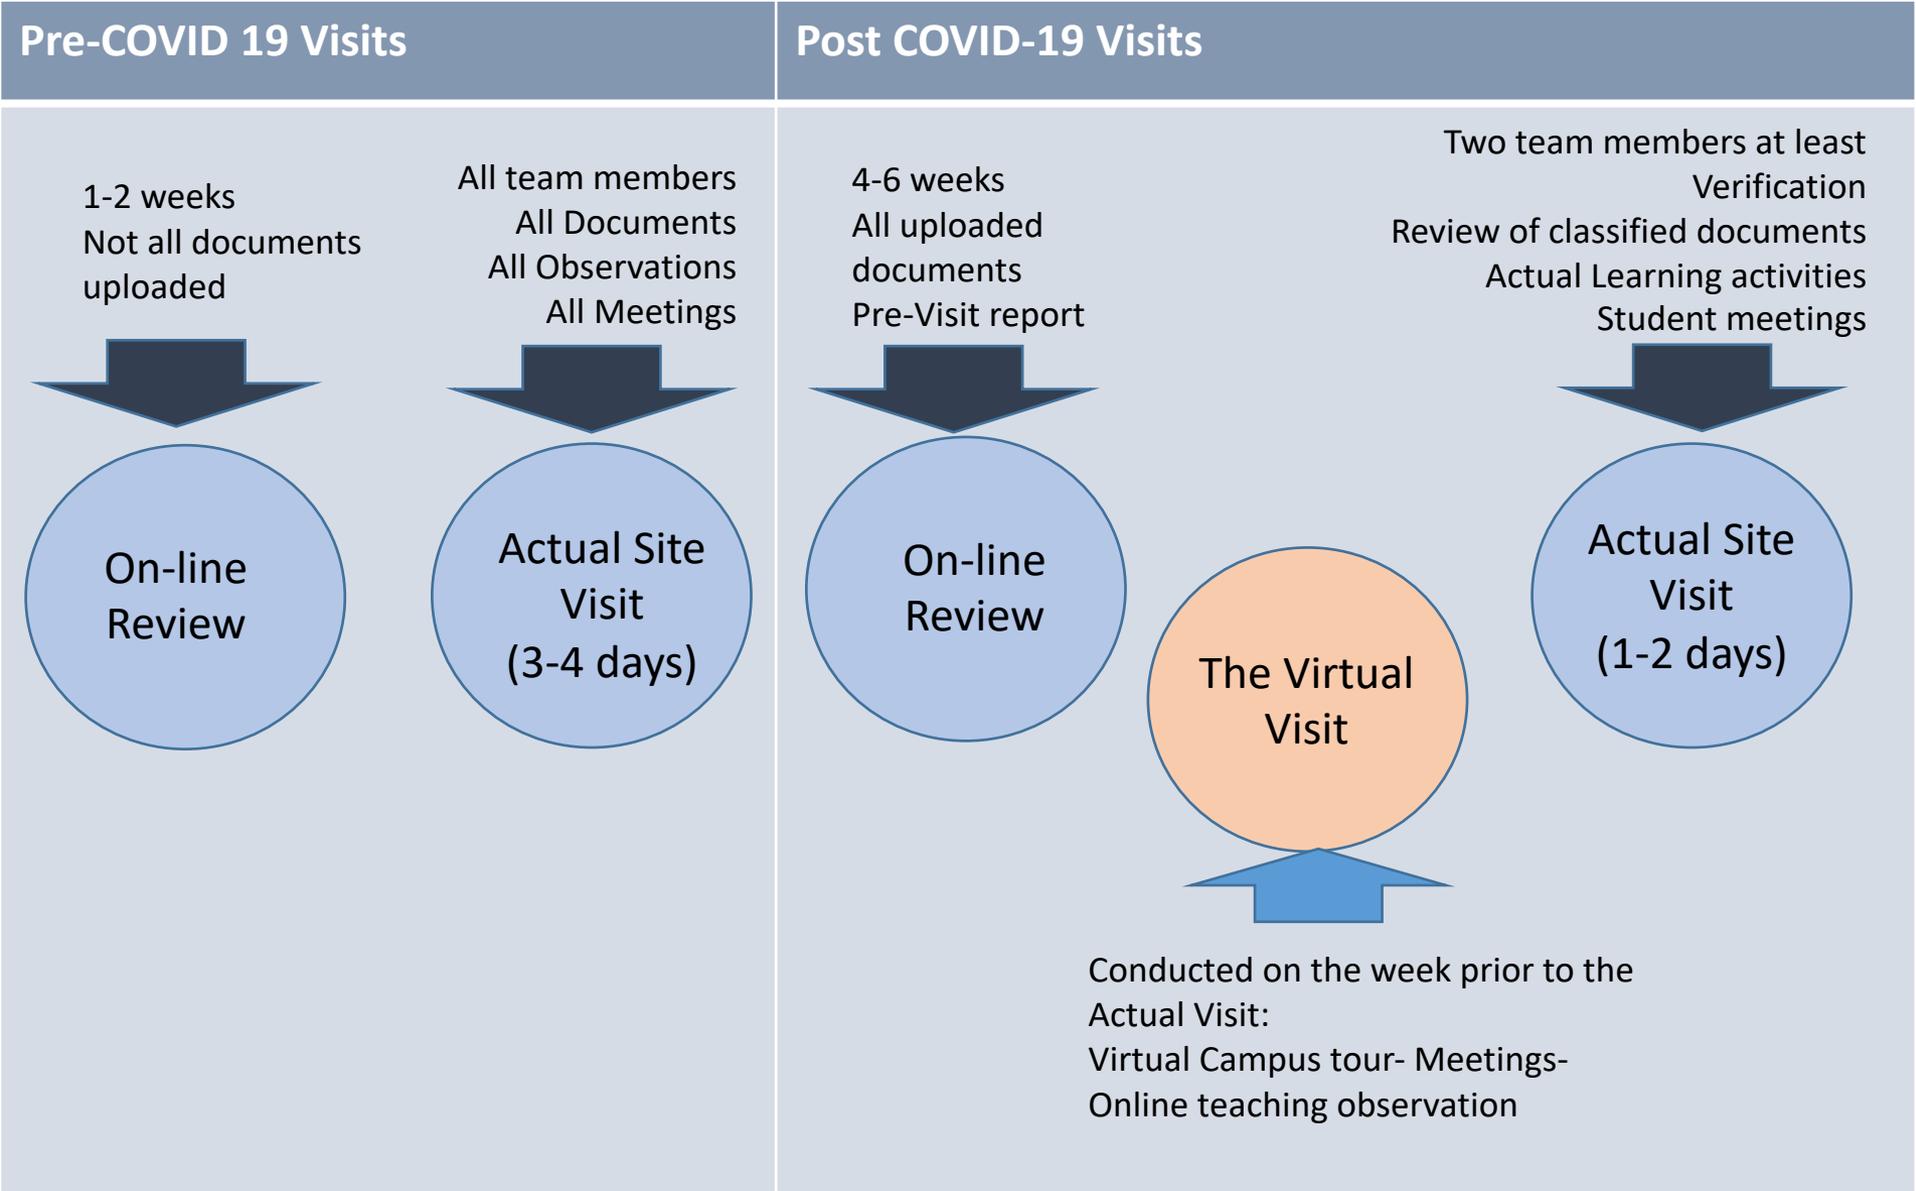

Prepared the guidelines for quality regulations for on-line teaching, learning and assessment

To Conclude

- Quality assurance needs a more stable environment to flourish
- Hence, we must work on stabilizing the education eco-system.

- We need to learn from the crisis and there is no going back.
- This is the NEW NORMAL.
- Yet we all must acknowledge that online teaching and learning cannot substitute the campus experience, nor can it substitute the face to face student teacher interaction and student to student interaction.
- Thus we need to balance between Actual and Virtual Education – Online – Blended – Synchronous and Asynchronous modes of delivery

Responding to CoVid-19 Challenges

- Update accreditation systems to give more weight to online activities
- Evolve and go beyond our traditional Quality Assurance and Accreditation role (capacity building – training)
- Work with HEIs to assure quality teaching and assessment
- Learn from current crisis and good practices
- Maintain permanent status and sustainability of the quality assurance agencies
- Make online education equally available for all students

Thank You!

Stay Safe and Healthy
