Approach for an African handbook for CBT in TVET

A SMART Handbook

Step I: review of CBT in Africa

Collection of current policy frameworks and implementation approaches to CBT in TVET in selected countries in Africa: literature review, a survey among stakeholders and interviews with researchers...

... organise stakeholder workshops of the selected countries to share and discuss the results and the main elements to take into consideration for the handbook.

Egypt, Morocco, Cape Verde,
Ghana, Cameroon, Mozambique,
Kenya

Step II: handbook for the development and implementation of CBT in TVET

The results of step I are the starting point for the development of a handbook for developers and implementers of CBT in TVET in African countries.

The practical handbook targets policy makers and practitioners, taking into account new demands and facilitating the description of learning outcomes, occupational profiles and competence profiles for different contexts and adaptable to national contexts.

01

Report

Review: baseline study to update information on the status of CBT in TVET in African countries

Collection and analysis of reference documents

Online survey among TVET practitioners

Online stakeholder workshops in multi country setting

Interviews with African TVET experts and researchers

- What are current approaches and types of CBT in the selected countries?
- What are differences and commonalities between the countries?
- How does the implementation CBT contribute to improving the performance of TVET systems?
- What are the lessons learned, major issues and challenges?
- What are the important issues and input to be addressed by the handbook?
